

FARE WELL

~by Kimberly

Sometimes it's tempting to stay "comfortably" seated in a "Lazy Boy" and to ask one who's already up and going into the kitchen to get drinks for others if they'll just get you some water, too.

But, once you exercise your own "common sense" muscles and find your own source of understanding from deep within, you can never be satisfied again to have someone else "wait on" you.

The "Lazy Boy" part of me has been looking forward to "experts" making all the necessary understanding available that I would need to maneuver through my life. However, I've made my own way to the kitchen. And, each time I do, I exercise my "common sense" muscles further.

I have found that no matter what type of "filtration devise" is used, NOTHING beats "living water" (true understanding) from one's own soul (kitchen). The only "filtration devise" that makes the water as clean and pure as I like is when I am treating all others on this planet equally.

For those who choose to stay in their "Lazy Boy" and drink—at least they're drinking! Most humans on this planet are chronically dehydrated. Few people have an open mind and even allow themselves to drink ("think"). They don't know what they're missing.

☺

Of course the "wizard behind the curtain" is going to weed out all but the most sincere, persistent seeker. The journey to the OZ kitchen that had appeared so fraught with dangers and obstacles turns out to be closer and easier than any of my wildest dreams. When I have finally drawn back the curtain, I find that "I never left Kansas" after all.

The living water AND the source is with us all the time. We DO have a heart! We DO have a brain! All it took was finding the COURAGE to dis-cover them for myself. Right here in the kitchen! With and through the "living water" that was a part of me all the time!

I eagerly await the time when we are ALL in the kitchen feasting together on the most delicious, empowering food and water provided, relying on no one else to “wait” upon us.

Fare well, my dearest friends. Fare well.